About one half of the Sun's Northern limb will be obscured.

V. August 13. A total Eclipse of the moon, invisible in all parts of America :

Beginning.....9h. 12m. M. }
Ending 3h. 27m. A. } Mean time at Halifax.

VI. August 27 and 28. A partial Eclipse of the sun, invisible in America, Europe and Asia.—a small portion of it will be seen at the Cape of Good Hope. It will commence in the vicinity of the Island of Madagascar, and end near the South Pole.

Beginning, 27th.....11h. 16m. A. }
Ending 28th 2h. 17m. M. } Mean time at Halifax.

Eclipses take place every half year, and at each period there may be one, two, or three; if only one, it must be an eclipse of the Sun; if two, there will be one of each luminary; and if three, there will be two of Sun, with one of the moon between them. Eclipses of the Sun are caused by the interposition of the body of the Moon between our eyes and the Sun—and Eclipses of the Moon by a real deprivation of light from the Moon occasioned by the shadow of the earth.

THE COMET.

"I'm coming with my locks of red,
 I'm coming down full sail;
 I've scattered all the signs with dread,
 And turned the planets pale,—
 I've full five hundred miles of head,
 A million leagues of tail !

"I've left the Ram without a horn,
 Made roast beef of the Bull;
Twins curse the hour that they were born;
 The Fish could not keep cool !
Virgo's "a maiden all forlorn,"
 And Leo's lost his wool.

"Mars was obliged to take to flight,
 Miss Venus had a swoon;
 I've left them in sad affright;
 I'm steering for the Moon;
 The Earth will then be in full sight—
 You'll have hot weather soon.

"Kamschatka, all the foreign climes,
Shall fever hot environ;
The Southern for their many crimes,
I'll pour a stream of fire on;
For I'll "Twenty hundred times
More hot than red hot iron!"

"My beard shall graze, and in a trice,
Singe Greenland to a coal;
One second and I'll knock a slice
From off the northern pole;
The shock will melt and break the ice,
Round Captain Symmes' hole.

"Poor devils, you'll have cause to rue
The moment that we met;
When fretting 'twixt a broil and stew,
Stark staring mad you get;
You'll not 'resolve into a dew,'
But melt down in a sweat."

THE wondrous conformation of the heavens has interested mankind from the earliest ages,—from the period when our first parents rejoiced together in the garden of Eden, to that auspicious moment when the "wise men of the east" beheld the glorious star of Bethlehem beaming in the firmament.

Comets, from the earliest period of man's history, have been regarded with feelings of superstition, and as the harbingers of extraordinary events. Such impressions now dwell only on the minds of the weak and ignorant; yet the suddenness of the approach of comets, their often eccentric movements and changes of appearance, and their enormous magnitude, will ever cause these phenomena to be contemplated with reverential awe.

The expected comet, as stated in last year's Almanack, is that of 1264 and 1556, and, as was also stated, would most probably make its appearance between June, 1857, and August, 1858.

Several astronomers have investigated, by laborious calculations, the question of the identity of this comet. It appears that the elements upon which their respective calculations have been formed have differed considerably; and not being so exact as those upon which some other comets were calculated, their observations are considered somewhat imperfect. It is, however, very probable that a great comet, revolving round the sun in the long period of nearly three centuries, was observed in 1264 and 1556. Assuming the comets of these years to be apparitions of the same body, its return towards the sun may be anticipated after the lapse of a corresponding interval. The wanderer is now over due, as full three centuries have elapsed since 1556. But as its period of revolution may be lengthened by planetary perturbations, the lookout will not be hopeless for a year or two longer. It is, therefore, not unlikely that the comet will revisit us between the present and the next year (if it does not appear before). It is, however, quite possible that this may be done without a chance of the object becoming visible, or at any rate conspicuous to the naked eye; while it is certain from observations of the Comet of 1556, that its orbit is so situated that it cannot approach the Earth within some five millions of miles, which is more than nineteen times the distance of the moon.

Should the Comet disclose itself to our view, having the same or nearly the same orbit with the one of 1556, its identity with it will be established, and a body be added to our system, following an elliptical path so immensely elongated as to require the period of 300 years to travel through it. Should it not be seen, it may still have been drawn back by the chain of solar influence, after a journey of thousands of millions of miles beyond the remotest of the known planets, without being visible, owing to unfavourable circumstances for observation, or to the vast changes in magnitude and appearance which cometary bodies have been observed to undergo. Should neither event transpire, no reproach will rest upon astronomers, as they have not announced the expected Comet with that certainty of assertion with which an eclipse, or a transit is predicted, but simply as a matter of fair probability.

EXPLANATION OF THE CALENDAR PAGES.

Column

LEFT HAND PAGE.

- 1 and 2—Days of the Month and of the Week.
 - 3 “ 4—The rising and setting in mean time of the highest point, or of the upper limb of the Sun, corrected for refraction.
 - 5—The Sun’s declination for the same as the Equation, 6th column
 - 6—Equation of time, (or quantity by which the Sun is slow or fast of the clock at noon, apparent, not mean, time at Greenwich, or a quarter before eight o’clock in the morning at Halifax.) Equation of time is the difference between mean and apparent time; and there are only four periods of the year when this difference is nothing; namely, about April 15, June 15, Sept. 1, and Decr. 24, as may be seen by referring to this column.
 - 7—Days’ length in hours and minutes.
 - 8—The rising of the Moon.
 - 9—The setting of the Moon.
 - 10—The time of the Moon’s southing, or passing the meridian. This column also gives the time of High Water at Parrsboro’, Horton, Cornwallis, Hantsport, Windsor, Newport, Truro, &c.
 - 11—The symbols in this column indicate the moon’s place in the Signs or Constellations of the Zodiac.
- The top of the columns of each month gives the Moon’s Phases, or times of New and Full Moon, and of the First and Last Quarters, or quadratures of the Sun.

The FARMER’S CALENDAR is placed at the foot of the columns of each month.

RIGHT HAND PAGE.

- 1—Contains the days of the month.
 - 2—Sundays, Weather, Anniversaries, &c.
 - 3—The time of High Water at Halifax, N. S.
 - 4— “ “ Pictou, N. S. and Cape Tormentine, N. B.
 - 5— “ “ Annapolis, N. S., St. John, N. B., and Portland, Maine.
 - 6— “ “ St. Johns, Newfoundland, of that tide which immediately precedes the southing of the Moon. These four columns are computed on the supposition that the time of High Water on the days of the New and Full Moon—L’establissement du port—is at Halifax, 7h.30m.; at Annapolis, St. John, N.B., & Portland, 11h.14m.; at Pictou and Cape Tormentine, 10h., and St. Johns, N. F. L., 6h.30m.
- All the calculations are made to mean solar time.

THE EPHEMERIS OF THE PRINCIPAL PLANETS.—The hour of meridian passage, right ascension and declination of each of the principal planets is given for the 1st and 15th of each month. ☾ The column of the moon's southing gives the time of high water at Parrsboro', Cornwallis, Horton, Hantsport, Newport, Windsor, Truro, &c.

Sick to the farm, young men. Now when land and its products, the true wealth of a nation, are within your controul,—when potatoes and wheat, and hay and cattle, and the produce of the dairy bring double their former prices; now, when the nations of the earth are re-converting their plough shares and pruning hooks, into swords and spears, when great armies are gathering together to destroy each other, and lay waste the beautiful earth, which God has given to man to “till and to keep”; now while the farmer is rapidly gaining the respect and wealth, and influence due to his position as lord of the land, be not seduced from your honorable and independent place, by whisperings of ambition, urging you to seek for wealth or ease, or honour, in a city life. There is an impression, more or less prevalent, that farming is in general less profitable than most other occupations. We will not undertake to say how far this impression is founded in fact; but it will be obvious to those who examine the subject, that from the loose manner in which accounts of farming operations are kept, the actual profit or loss can hardly ever be determined with any thing like accuracy.

☾ The column of the moon's southing gives the time of high water at Farnsboro', Cornwallis, Horton, Hantsport, Windsor, Newport, Truro, &c.

As a general rule, all succulent food, or such as contains large quantities of water, is best for winter food for Milch Cows, for the production of large quantities of milk in winter. Most field-roots contain about seven-eighths to nine-tenths water; and these are therefore milk producers. Bran, largely mixed with water, operates in a similar manner. Still-fed cows are often taught to drink enormous quantities of "slop," and so yield large milkings of a poor, washy, unhealthy product. Carrots and corn-stalks (the latter being usually quite a juicy food, when the stocks themselves are consumed as when small grown by being thickly sown, as directed in the calendar for June,) increase the quantity, but still more the richness of winter milk. The following is also another mode of feeding for getting the greatest quantity and best quality of milk:—for every cow, boil half a bushel of turnips; when boiled soft, add 4 qts of bran, mix well, and let it stand till cool. Give your cow a boiled mess of this once a day, and you will find the milk to increase, and the milk does not taste of the turnips as it does when they are fed raw. By adding the bran while the turnips are hot, the bran swells, and you get the full good of it.

☾ The column of the moon's southing gives the time of high water at Parrsboro', Cornwallis, Horton, Hantsport, Windsor, Newport, Truro, &c.

PROFESSOR GREGORY, of Aberdeen, observes: "It has been ascertained that if you mix with the food of poultry a sufficient quantity of egg shells or chalk, which they eat greedily, they will lay twice or thrice as many eggs as before. A well-fed fowl is disposed to lay a large number of eggs, but cannot do so without the materials of the shells, however nourishing in other respects her food may be; indeed, a fowl fed on food and water, free from carbonate of lime, and not finding any in the soil, or in the shape of mortar, which they often eat on the walls, would lay no eggs at all with the best will in the world." Fowls or Chickens may be fattened in four or five days by feeding them three times daily with rice boiled in milk, always fresh—as sourness prevents them from fattening. Give them clear water to drink. By this method the flesh is made particularly white. To pickle eggs, boil them in a saucepan until they become quite hard—then after removing the shells, lay them carefully in large-mouthed jars, and pour over them scalding vinegar, well seasoned with whole pepper, allspice, a few races of ginger and a few cloves or garlic. When cold, bung down closely, and in a month they are fit for use.

☐ The column of the moon's southing gives the time of high water at Parrsboro', Cornwallis, Horton, Hantsport, Windsor, Newport, Truro, &c.

The season for grafting is approaching. There is no kind of labour which brings a richer return than a few hours spent in grafting. There is no difficulty now in procuring scions of the most approved varieties, gratis, or at a rate merely nominal. The best scions for apple trees, are obtained from the last year's growth, on the points of bearing limbs. The scions may be cut any time during February or March, and placed in a cellar with the butts upon the ground where the air will not strike them. Grafting wax may be made in the proportion of 2½ lbs. rosin, 1 lb. tallow, and ¾ lb. beeswax, melted together and poured into a tub of water. If it should be too sticky, more beeswax may be used. Probably the best time for grafting apple trees is from the 15th. of April to the 10th. of May. If the grafting is to be done in May, the scions should be cut earlier in the season. The best mode for preserving scions is to fill a large box with fine pulverized moss, or still better, with moist saw-dust, in which the grafts are simply immersed, and which are thus packed away or withdrawn with the greatest ease at any desired moment. A box of saw-dust, in a cool cellar, will remain moist without watering for many weeks.

☾ The column of the moon's southing gives the time of high water at Parrsboro', Cornwallis, Horton, Hantsport, Windsor, Newport, Truro, &c.

In every day life may be seen instances of want of system and order and good management—nothing in place; work done in a hurry, and consequently half done; the cultivated crops choked by weeds, AND SO FORTH, to the end of the chapter. He don't take the papers, not he, and as for "book farming" he don't believe in it. His father raised good corn, and had fat hogs, and books did him no good, and he can do as well as his father did. He could not afford to take an agricultural paper, if he wanted to, and he could not get time to read it if he did, and as for "slicing up round" and being so "awful nice," it did not amount to anything. The man of system and order has no weeds in his garden or cornfields, or bushes by the sides of the fences that enclose his cultivated fields. Every thing speaks of management, industry and thrift. Perhaps his "bump" of order may be fully developed—but that is not all: he is a man of information, "takes the papers" of course, and brings the result of his observation, intelligence and reading into active service.

☾ The column of the moon's southing gives the time of high water at Parrsboro', Cornwallis, Horton, Hantsport, Windsor, Newport, Truro, &c.

ONE of the most profitable crops the farmer can raise, is corn for fodder. Plough and harrow,—furrow with a one-horse plough in one direction, 2½ or 3 feet apart,—strew from a half-bushel hand-basket, at the rate of 3 bushels of seed per acre, along the furrows,—cover with a harrow or cultivator run lengthwise,—pass the one-horse cultivator between the rows when the corn is a foot high; all the weeds will soon be smothered by the corn, and no hoeing is needed. Mow, bind, and dry very thoroughly. Make very small stacks, to prevent heating—salt well. Four to six tons are yielded by one acre: the stalks being fine all are eaten. Do not sow broadcast. It is said that 3 tons of this fodder for cows is better than 4 tons of the best hay. The value of the crop depends much on the seed sown. The common large sweet corn is considered the best. It may be cut when not more than a foot high, as it will start again and afford a second cutting, but it is deemed best when the stalk is fully grown, and the grain beginning to form.

☾ The column of the moon's southing gives the time of high water at Parrsboro' Cornwallis, Horton, Hantsport, Windsor, Newport, Truro, &c.

It has been a common saying among farmers, that timothy hay should not be cut until ripe: that is, until the heads were plump and full of seed. The loss farmers sustain by thus letting their grass get too ripe, is immense. Both science and experience demonstrate that the proper time for cutting grass, is when it is in blossom. All plants on arriving at maturity have their starch, and sugar, and gum, in large quantities converted into woody fibre—a wise provision of Providence for enabling the stem to bear the mature seeds. And as sugar, gum and starch are nutritive elements, it is desirable that these should be preserved, and hence the point for successful grass-cutting is that between the full development of the plant, and before the formation of their seeds; in other words when they are in flower. The best hay is that which is made without becoming too dry; but to prevent mouldiness, it should be moderately salted. The intermixture of the salt is more perfect when it is frequently applied in successive layers. One peck to a peck and a half is not too much for a ton of hay. Let farmers see that a sufficient supply of salt is on hand before they commence haying, and then it will not be so likely to be neglected.

☾ The column of the moon's southing gives the time of high water at Parrsboro', Cornwallis, Horton, Hantsport, Windsor, Newport, Truro, &c.

THE time is approaching when farmers will no longer be satisfied with the present combination of earth, ruts and mud holes in forming what is commonly known as public highways. The rapid increase in railroads and other means of transmission, has imparted quite new ideas of locomotion; and many are becoming very much averse to ploughing through mortar beds with loaded teams. A most durable and desirable substitute may be found in one, wherever scattered stones and gravel beds are accessible. The foundation is made of a layer of rounded stones, which being always more or less irregular, the smaller or sharp end is placed upward; smaller stones are laid near the side of the track-way, and the larger towards the middle, thus giving the road an even convex form—the spaces are then filled with small broken stone or gravel, which by the travelling upon it, is firmly wedged in the stones already laid, and the whole becomes a solid, hard, immovable mass. There are many parts of the country where the fields of the farmer are encumbered with a superabundance of stones, which may be had without cost; and when in addition to this, gravel is accessible, these roads may be made at a very moderate expense, and if well constructed will last a long time.

☾ The column of the moon's southing gives the time of high water at FARRSBORO', Cornwallis, Horton, Hantsport, Newport, Truro, &c.

THE PRAIRIE FARMER, (an American Agricultural Magazine,) in an article on the parsnip, states: "It is excellent as food for horses, cattle, and swine. It is more nutritious than the carrot. The winter butter from the Cows of Jersey and Guernsey, fed on the parsnip, is almost as rich in flavour and colour, as when they are fed in pastures. It bears frost well. If left in the ground all winter, it will be good in the spring. Wood Ashes make a good manure for it. It is more hardy and less liable to disease and to insects than the carrot. Its culture should be that of the turnip and carrot, being a green crop and requiring a deep soil for the growth of its roots. They should be singled whenever the plant can be seen, to a distance of 6 or 8 inches apart in the drill—the stems and leaves spreading more than those of the carrot, require more room. Should be sown as early as possible in the spring; it may also be sown in the fall. The Carrot, Parsnip and Mangel Wurtzel suffer little from insects.

☽ The column of the moon's southing gives the time of high water at Parrsboro', Cornwallis, Horton, Hantsport, Windsor, Newport, Truro, &c.

A careful, saving, manufacture, and good application of MANURE, would promote a great improvement with many. Much of the value of the products of the barn-yard are lost from want of a good supply of straw, dried muck or peat, to absorb the liquid portions. Much is lost by its wrong application, and especially by the want of its thorough admixture with the soil by repeated ploughings and harrowings—the benefits from manure might be very easily tripled on most farms. We do not mean here to include, at all, those who suffer their manure to remain in the yard five years till nine-tenths is lost by fermentation and vapour; nor those who do not apply it at all; nor the man who built his hog pen across a stream, that the cleanings might be conveniently shoveled into the water and washed away. Manure may be even well applied, and well mixed with the soil, and then wasted by an exhausting course.

☐ The column of the moon's southing gives the time of high water at Parrsboro', Cornwallis, Horton, Hantsport, Windsor, Newport, Truro, &c.

PREPARATIONS must now be made for a long and severe winter. The summer vehicles and implements should be dried, cleaned, and stowed away. The fences should be put in order, so that none of the fields may be exposed to the poaching of cattle, sheep or hogs. The farmer should walk often about with a hammer and pocket full of nails, patching and repairing the barns and sheds where they require it. The yard should be well-bedded with turf, peat, muck, straw, weeds, saw-dust, or other vegetable matters, at the same time they should be so constructed that the soluble parts of the manure, which are the best, shall not be lost. Finish digging and storing of roots and the fall ploughing. One good ploughing of clay land in the fall is worth two or three in the spring. Husk the corn, make cider, examine and make cuts for the drainage of surface water—underground drains are preferable to surface cuts. The children should be kept close at school, and the farmer should never forget that more attention is due from him toward the improvement of his children than that of land or stock.

☾ The column of the moon's southing gives the time of high water at Parrsboro', Cornwallis, Horton, Hantsport, Windsor, Newport, Truro, &c.

The stock now require increased attention—they should be supplied with plenty of water and salt, and fed regularly two or three times every day. Let the farmer keep out of the woods, for farming is not a branch of lumbering, nor are active lumbermen likely to make thrifty husbandmen. Tarash grain, and take produce to market; the good wife ought to have her quota ready of cheese, butter, fowls, hams, sausages, mittens, socks, cloth, wool and feathers; these are all as good as money in town. Let all accounts be settled and debts paid. The crops for each field ought to be arranged, not only for the ensuing summer, but for several years in advance; let there be always a systematic rotation of crops on the farm; let every one take in and study an agricultural periodical, and strive to combine science with practice—practice with science. Fuel and fencing stuff must be prepared and made ready for hauling as soon as possible; cut up as much of the former as possible, and pile it away under cover for summer use—this seems novel, but the farmer will understand, though the lumberman may not. Farewell 1859!

Building painted in stripes, vertical, black and white. Between the northernmost and the southernmost of the Murr Ledges, there is a range of dangerous rocks and shoals, many of them always above water, and extend westward from the Light House about four miles. From this range further westerly, about six miles from the Gannet Light, lies a dangerous breaker called the Bull—this may be avoided by keeping three remarkable headlands near the S. W. end of Grand Manan, open.

L. E. VAN BUSKIRK, M. D., DENTIST,

171 Hollis Street, opposite Variety Hall,

CONTINUES TO PRACTISE HIS PROFESSION IN ALL ITS BRANCHES.

After a successful practice of more than twenty-five years, availing himself of all the improvements that science and art have called forth, he is enabled by his long practical experience and mechanical skill to perform any operations required in the most skilful manner.

ARTIFICIAL TEETH,

Double sets on gold, made on the new atmospheric pressure principle, without springs, perfectly comfortable, and nearly as useful for articulation and mastication as natural teeth; price, with gums, twenty-five pounds—without, twenty pounds; upper set, with gums, fifteen pounds, without, twelve pounds ten shillings. Partial sets on gold plate, with or without clasps, single tooth two pounds ten shillings; three or four, five pounds; several, seven pounds ten shillings. For partial sets, stumps need not be extracted if sound and healthy. Silver plates, gilt, about half price, but not recommended.

PIVOT TEETH,

set on stumps with compressed wooden pivots, or hollow gold pivots and tube, with a spring to remove at pleasure, from fifteen to thirty shillings each.

TEETH PLUCED,

as circumstances may require, with adhesive gold, common gold foil, tin foil or cement, from five to ten shillings each.

TEETH EXTRACTED

with Forceps of the latest and best description, adapted to the form of each tooth; when used with a strong and experienced hand, the least possible pain is endured,—charge 2s. 6d. Chloroform or electricity used if required.

DENTISTRY, from the necessarily very limited knowledge persons in general possess of it, is more liable to imposition than any other profession. There is no other occupation that requires more experience, mechanical ingenuity, integrity and sound judgment, yet we constantly see attempts, by inexperienced hands, at making plate-work resulting in teeth altogether different from what they should be, and teeth plugged that are totally inadequate for the purpose intended. It is a master piece of dental art, possessed by few persons, to make a full set of teeth without springs, to fit comfortably, look beautiful, and masticate properly.

Dr. Van Buskirk is too well known throughout the Province to require any reference.

The First Investigation and Division of Profits took place as at the 25th May, 1854, and the Addition to Policies was at the rate of £2 per cent. per annum of Reversionary Bonus. The next division will be made in the present year.

Future Investigations and Divisions of Profits will be made every five years.

The Company's Income is upwards of Ninety Thousand Pounds Sterling per annum, and its large accumulated funds are invested at favorable rates of interest, partly in the Colonies and partly in G. Britain.

From the wide basis on which the Company has been established,—from the extensive field of business which it is cultivating, and from the success which has attended its operations, the Directors look forward to large Profits available to the Policy-holders; and they do not think they over-estimate the advantages of the Company in stating that no office affords so many facilities, and at the same time holds out the prospect of so many advantages to Assurers, as the Colonial.

To secure the advantage of this year's entry to the Profits Scheme, proposals must be lodged at the Head Office, or at one of the Agencies, on or before the 25th May.

Further information will be supplied at the Company's Offices and Agencies.

MATTHEW H. RICHEY, General Agent.

STAR LIFE ASSURANCE SOCIETY, OF LONDON

Founded 1843.

Capital, £100,000 Sterling.

NOTICE.

THE privilege offered to Assurers in the Star Life Office are highly advantageous. Ninety per cent. or nine-tenths of the profits (ascertained every fifth year) are allotted to the holders of Policies; which may be applied in the reduction of the future annual premium, or be added to the sum insured, as a bonus.

Thirty days are allowed for the payment of the premium from the date of its becoming due.

All claims are paid within fifty days of their being allowed by the Board, and disputed claims referred to arbitration.

The following table shows the additions to Policies of ten years' duration, to which attention is specially invited :—

Age at entrance.	Sum Insured.	Amount paid to the Office.	Bonus added to the sum assured in ten years.	Total amount now payable at the death of the Assured.

This Society is chiefly, but not exclusively, devoted to the Assurance of the Lives of members of the Wesleyan Methodist Societies, and of the hearers and friends of that connection. Assurances, however, have been and may be effected upon all assurable lives. Nothing need be said upon the propriety of persons assuring their lives for the benefit of their families and friends, when so many proofs are furnished by the experience of every-day life. The advantages of a respectable Company, with a large capital, and dividing handsome profits, are too obvious to need comment.

All necessary Blanks and Pamphlets and every information furnished gratis, by the Society's Agent or Medical Examiner.
